Residential + Commercial Building Conversion
by Dannien Roller Architekten + Partner PartGmbB

Dietmar Strauß, Besigheim

Dannien Roller Architekten + Partner's converts a neoclassic residential and commercial building with a single-storey extension in Tübingen's historic centre.

The neo-classical building conversion and extension blend into the historical context of the old town while retaining style autonomy.

The new building distinguishes itself from the old structure with modern architecture language, yet forms a natural, integral part of the existing topography. Unfinished plaster matches the natural stone walls in the surrounding area. The green roofscape contrasts with the sculptural building structure, respectfully embedded into the terraced slope of Schulberg.

This project has been longlisted in the business building category of Dezeen Awards 2021.
